Celebrating Diverse Cultures !

Rand International School

30 - 10 - 2016

RIS takes the responsibility of developing school's curriculum which includes all those student activities- academic and non-academic since they all have an impact on student learning. RIS sets the values and attitudes of the school community that underpin the culture and ethos of a school which aid to shape the future of its young people. To enhance the positive and effective culture and ethos of the school, school is planning out for various curricular and non-curricular activities to create situations for the learners to practice IB learner profile attributes in action .

countries Japan, Turkey, Emirates, Spain, Africa, America, and India, where each 4 classes exhibit the culture of one country, thus exhibiting cultures of 7 countries in 28 classes.

Each class displayed the culture of the assigned country with flag symbol, Souvenirs, currency, and food products. Children dressed up with the country's cultural apparel.

Environment in the section was created as such children can experience the travelling through different countries in practice.

Set up that creates a sense of being in airport with traditional announcement for airplane take off, flights schedule, and some music related to flying everywhere giving the sense of packing up bags, having passports, getting immigration stamps at airport office.

Passport stamping for the entry in the country!

Children were very excited and curious about the culture they presented as well as the one they visited. They were wondering, inquiring, and collaborating with other children to know about what do they have in their classes. Children were greeting each other in countries' languages. Teachers had some power point presentations of the assigned country in the classes to have the students get better insight of the culture of the country. At the end of the event, children reflected with their teachers about what they saw and what was the most thing they liked getting to awareness that we have different people and different cultures in the world and "We accept each other's culture!"
